DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: it section headings such as "Summary of the Invention".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 6-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
4. Regarding claims 6 and 9, the phrase "in particular" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 6 and 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Madsen [Pat. No. 4,370,778].

Madsen teaches a sausage product comprising a casing containing foodstuff (Figure 4), a self-constricting element (Figure 4, #2), and the element being made of a U-shaped heat-shrinkable plastic (column 2, line 65). Phrases such as “a heat source is assigned” and “is pushed onto” are merely preferred methods of making and using the claimed product.

7. Claims 6 and 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kirkpatrick et al [Pat. No. 3,113,408].

Kirkpatrick et al teach a product comprising a casing (Figure 5, #20), a self-constricting element (Figures 5-8, #24 & 26), the element being made of heat-shrinkable plastic (column 3, line 6), and a heat source (Figure 1, #14). The recitation “sausages” has not been given patentable weight because the recitation occurs in the preamble. A preamble is generally not accorded any patentable weight where it merely recites the purpose of a process or the intended use of a structure, and where the body of the claim does not depend on the preamble for completeness but, instead, the process steps or structural limitations are able to stand alone. See In re Hirao, 535 F.2d 67, 190 USPQ 15 (CCPA 1976) and Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d 150, 152, 88 USPQ 478, 481 (CCPA 1951). Phrases such as “a heat source is assigned” and “is pushed onto” are merely preferred methods of making and using the claimed product.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kirkpatrick et al as applied above, in view of Beckman [Pat. No. 4,007,761].

Kirkpatrick et al teach the above mentioned components. Kirkpatrick et al do not recite a rubber ring. Beckman teaches a casing product which uses a rubber band or heat-shrinkable plastic (column 6, lines 21-33). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the rubber band of Beckman into the invention of Kirkpatrick et al since both are directed to closure devices, since Kirkpatrick et al already included heat-shrinkable material (column 3, line 6), and since Beckman teaches that rubber bands can be used in substitution for heat-shrinkable material (column 6, lines 21-33).

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Terlizzi Jr et al [Pat. No. 4,672,793], Hanten et al [Pat. No. 6,675,554], Christensen [Pat. No. 5,605,502], EP 296300A, EP 21188A, DE 4201863A1, GB 2117702A, and Wood et al [Pat. No. 4,792,047] teach constrictive elements.
